Xander Jenkin

Born as William Alexander Jenkin V
17, 12th grade at Citrus High School, Born on January 14, 2003

I plan to pursue either physics or computer science. I have been actively coding since middle school and have experience in tech support, computer building, and app development; however, as I have found passion for calculus, I am interested in the theoretical areas of STEM as well. Despite never taking a formal physics course, I am doing independent studies for both AP Physics C courses since my school does not offer either of those courses, and I aim to earn 5's on both AP exams to adequately prepare me to take more physics courses in college.
